

In David Trudgill's paper on 'Changing environment and orchid distributions close to their northern and southern limits in Britain' published in Issue 4(2) of British & Irish Botany, the final column of Table 1 was inadvertently omitted during the production process. By way of correction we are providing here the original and complete version of Table 1 in PDF format.